cooperatives have spread across virtually all continents today the international cooperative alliance ica recognises over 3 million cooperatives with 1 billion cooperative members or about 12% of the human population and serving many more members of the public collectively owning trillions in assets this handbook provides a comprehensive introduction to the subject and the current state of affairs with regard to the study of cooperation in the economy generally and of the cooperative and related sectors particularly it highlights the essential issues and debates provides a future research agenda outlining the distinctions and similarities between individual and inter organisational cooperation and explores the connections of cooperative economics and management to fundamental ethical principles this book examines competition and the similarities and differences between competitive economics and cooperative economics identifying to what extent and how cooperative economics and management are more capable of addressing the problems of global neoliberalism such as ecological collapse wealth inequity value capture and distribution including via online platforms and social relational problems this book offers a variety of new research and theory building from various disciplines particularly focusing on the fields of economics and management but extending beyond these disciplines to domains such as sociology psychology anthropology and political science it will become the standard reference work for not only a broad and large audience of scholars researchers and students but also interested professionals policymakers regulators and cooperators in the field wishing to orient themselves in a global rapidly developing movement and field of study with reference to issues of producing and allocating resources and focusing on the impact of cooperation on issues like risk trust the development of preferences institutional governance networks and inequity the open access version of this book available at taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4.0 license the present volume attempts to critically evaluate claims that modern society may be read and understood as a network accepting that this perspective holds some potential the question becomes how to best capitalize on it to analyze society as a network means to respond not only to the actual needs but also to highlight the opportunities and the utilities and to investigate whether society is increasingly relational or just perceived as such as e g digital social networks and related concepts exemplify from a strictly scientific perspective to answer the question how to read society as a network means to ask ourselves a if the conceptual categories especially the concepts of structure and exchange and the paradigms of traditional analysis holism and individualism both in the functionalist and the conflictive versions are still sufficient b if new conceptual categories theories instruments are needed to represent more properly the reality we face to investigate it to explain it or at least to understand it starting from a reflection on already established social networks scott 2003 the fundamental differences between groups and networks vergati 2008 the logics of networks serra 2003 as well as social capital formation and links di nicola 2006 mutti 1998 we seize the spatial dynamics seemingly following opposite paths but which revert to a common denominator de spatialization and re spatialization namely the processes of dematerialization of space s and its reconstruction by specific relational dynamics and forms the study of networks is therefore not attributable to a single theory but to several theories converging towards a unique perspective spaces and logical reasoning serra 2001 each one with its own uniqueness the strength of this volume and the difference with respect to other attempts at explaining the network society lies in the multidimensional and interrelated perspectives it offers emerging from converging multidisciplinary perspectives sociological anthropological and linguistic and from applications that the network society provides namely international european governance institutional public linguistic landscape of the city of rome and mediated ones communication technology
